Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1 and 3-5 (Species V, figure 9) in the reply filed on 1/14/05 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the examiner has not pointing out distinctness between the claims, that the examiner fails to point out mutually exclusive characteristics of the various species and that it would not be a serious burden to the Examiner to search and examine the entire application. This is not found persuasive because the examination of more than one invention (i.e. since each invention has its own distinctness) is a serious burden to the examiner. Applicant's own specification describes the mutually exclusive characteristics of the species and resulting distinctness between inventions.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 2 and 6-12 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to nonelected Species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 1/14/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nobuta et al., U.S. 2002/0148924 A1.

With respect to claims 1 and 3, Nobuta '924 shows a holding device (part of 50) configured to rotatably support the first rolled film (11, a film is also known as a recording paper), said holding device having a slanted surface (part of 50 is slanted) configured to support and guide movement of the first rolled film from a first position (10) on said holding device to a second position (20) on said holding device; and a first detector (i.e. a photo sensor 6, 6 and 109) configured to detect whether the core (11a) of the first rolled film has moved from said first position (10) to said second position (20), see figures 14-16.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

With respect to claims 4-5, Nobuta '924 teaches photo sensors (6, 6 and 109) but does not elaborate on the structural elements as set forth by the claim 4.

Art Unit: 3654

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the apparatus of Nobuta '924 to include a light emitting portion emitting a light to the first position, and a light receiving portion to receive light reflected by the paper as taught by Fuji '544, in order to provide a non-contacting sensor for controlling the apparatus.

Response to Arguments

Claims 2 and 6-12 have been withdrawn.

Claim 1 has been amended.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 3-5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

The added recitation that the holding device has a slanted surface necessitated the new grounds of rejection set forth above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
